Relying on Christ's own words, the Catholic Church has always held that the bread and wine brought to the priest in the offertory procession are changed into Christ's body and blood "by the action of Christ and the power of the Holy Spirit" when, at the consecration of the Mass, an ordained priest says over them the words Jesus said: "This is my body.... This is my blood."

32th Sunday of the ordinary time cycle B

November 10, 2024

Confiando en las palabras del mismo Cristo, la Iglesia Católica siempre a sosteniendo que el pan y el vino llevados al sacerdote durante la procesion del ofertorio se transforman en el cuerpo y la Sangre de Cristo por la accion de Jesuscristo y poder del Espiritu Santo, cuando el sacerdote durante la consagracion pronuncia las palabras mismas de Cristo "Este es mi cuerpo ...Esta es mi sangre".

Saint Martin of Tours

Patron of the poor, soldiers, winemakers

Saint Martin of Tours was born in in Savaria, Pannonia in either the year 316 or 336 AD. That region is what is today the nation of Hungary. His father was a tribune, which is a high-ranking officer in the Imperial Horse Guard. Martin and his family went with his father when he was assigned to a post at Ticinum, in Northern Italy. Martin's parents were pagans, but at the age of 10, Martin chose to respond to the call of the Gospel and become a Christian It is here that Martin would grow up. As a young soldier, Martin encountered a beggar in Amiens. The beggar was unclothed and it was very cold. Martin removed his cloak and with his sword, he cut it in half. He gave this half to the beggar and dressed himself in the remnant. That night, Martin had a vision in which Christ appeared to him. The vision spoke to him, "Martin, a mere catechumen has clothed me." A catechumen is one who is being instructed in the Christian faith. In the early centuries of Christianity, that was a long process of instruction - and Martin was deeply dedicated to it.

Amen, I say to you, this poor widow put in more than all the other contributors to the treasury. For they have all contributed from their surplus wealth, but she, from her poverty, has contributed all she had, her whole livelihood.

Mark 12:43-44

¿Vivo realmente el desprendimiento de las realidades terrenales? ¿Está mi corazón vacío de cosas? ¿Puede mi corazón ver las necesidades de los demás? «El programa del cristiano —el programa de Jesús— es un “corazón que ve”» (Benedicto XVI).

Do I genuinely live in detachment from earthly realities? Is my heart empty of things? Can my heart see the needs of others? “The Christian's program —the program of Jesus—is “a heart which sees”” (Benedict XVI).

The context for today's Gospel continues to be mounting tension between Jesus and the Jewish authorities. Mark reports some of Jesus' teaching in the Temple area in today's reading and in the preceding verses not included in our Lectionary sequence. In the first part of today's Gospel, we hear Jesus warn the crowds not to follow the example of the scribes in seeking honor and attention from others. It is important to recall that Mark indicates that Jesus taught these things while in the vicinity of the Temple in Jerusalem. Jesus then observes how Jewish pilgrims are making their contributions to the temple treasury. The Temple in Jerusalem was the center of Jewish worship in the time of Jesus. It was expected that observant Jews would make pilgrimages to the Temple to offer prayer and sacrifices. Jesus calls attention, however, to a poor widow who makes the smallest of contributions—two coins of little value. Jesus upholds the poor widow's offering for his disciples' consideration, commending her because her small offering was an act of profound generosity, giving from her livelihood rather than her surplus.

To give from our livelihood is not only an act of generosity, it is also an act of trust in God. We can only give from our need if we trust that God will provide for us. Jesus himself demonstrates the ultimate act of generosity and trust in God as he gives his life for us on the cross.
